

Integrated Physician Practice Section (IPPS) leadership opportunities

The Integrated Physician Practice Section (IPPS) is committed to providing a learning environment where physicians from physician-led, integrated organizations can network and learn from each other, and share their experience with physician leaders moving toward integration.

The Integrated Physician Practice Section offers a number of opportunities to get involved, network and enhance your leadership skills.

Become an IPPS representative

IPPS representatives bring the perspective of their integrated practices to the IPPS. Currently, more than 50 organizations (PDF) from across the country are represented in the section. Become an IPPS representative by submitting the certification form.

Governing council opportunities

The IPPS Governing Council provides strategic direction to the section and oversees the section's programs and activities.

The IPPS Governing Council meets in person three times a year: in June and November in conjunction with the AMA Annual/Interim Meetings and in late summer for a leadership retreat. The governing council meets virtually at various times throughout the year as needed

The next scheduled IPPS Governing Council elections will be held at the 2023 Annual Meeting.

For additional information, contact Carrie Waller at carrie.waller@ama-assn.org.

Serve on the IPPS Policy Development Committee

The Integrated Practice Physician Section Policy Development Committee (PDF) is charged with strategizing how the section can influence AMA policy on issues relevant to its constituents. IPPS members interested in serving on the committee should contact Carrie Waller at carrie.waller@ama-assn.org.