

CPT® News and publications on the CPT code set

CPT® News

CPT® News is a monthly email to update the coding community (and other interested stakeholders) on news and information regarding the Current Procedural Terminology (CPT®) code set.

Each edition provides hot topics happening in the realm of CPT, such as new codes released and their implications, relevant information from CPT® Assistant, updates on digital health at the American Medical Association (AMA) and more.

The CPT® Quarterly

The AMA has released its newest publication to help you further and freshen your understanding of CPT.

Beyond enhancing understanding of the code set itself, each issue will offer insights and commentary on the trends and uses of CPT coding from the authoritative source on CPT: the AMA.

After all, the CPT code set is more than just a terminology. It is a system that facilitates reimbursement, enables research and helps to reduce administrative burden. More than ever, it helps accelerate medical innovation. With intention we refer to CPT codes as the language of medicine today and the code to its future.
