SPS June 2022 Meeting highlights

The Senior Physicians Section (SPS) met on Friday, June 10.

Business of the meeting

Education sessions

SPS sponsored two educational programs.

"Learn the Latest on Medicare Drug Price Negotiation for Seniors in the US Health Care System" featured Todd Askew, AMA senior vice president of advocacy, who discussed the pros and cons of Medicare negotiating drug prices with pharmaceutical companies.
Panelists for the "Surgery in Older Adults" program.
"Surgery in Older Adults, A Risky Undertaking: Learn More About Optimizing Perioperative Brain Health" featured Susana Vacas, MD, PhD, assistant professor, Harvard University, who discussed evidence-based practices that relate to the diagnosis, prevention and treatment of perioperative neurocognitive disorders in senior physicians. Panelists were Amit Ghose, MD, SPS liaison and Matthew D. Gold, MD, delegate, Organized Medical Staff Section (OMSS). The program was moderated by Jenny L. Boyer, MD, JD, PhD, chair, SPS Governing Council.

For additional information on the June SPS meeting, visit the agenda & resources page.

SPS Delegates Report

View the SPS delegates report (PDF) from the June SPS meeting.