Mark Linzer, MD, discusses physician stress during COVID-19
On Oct. 13, 2020, the AMA held a webinar in the AMA STEPS Forward™ series: "Physician Stress During Times of COVID."

Experts discuss preliminary key findings from the AMA’s Coping with COVID surveys, how to alleviate stress during a crisis, and organizational resources to support physicians.

Webinar recording

Speaker

Mark Linzer, MD

M. Thomas Stillman endowed chair and vice-chief for education, mentorship, and scholarship in the Department of Medicine, Hennepin Healthcare and Professor of Medicine, University of Minnesota

Speaker bio

Dr. Linzer is the M. Thomas Stillman endowed chair and vice-chief for education, mentorship, and scholarship in the Department of Medicine at Hennepin Healthcare, and professor of medicine at the University of Minnesota. He is board certified by the ABIM and a master in the American College of Physicians.

Dr. Linzer has performed foundational work in defining the impact of physician stress and burnout in patient care and in identifying remediable factors in the work environment to improve outcomes for doctors and patients.

Copyright 1995 - 2021 American Medical Association. All rights reserved.