COVID-19 medical ethics videocasts and podcasts

AMA Journal of Ethics® videocast

In this video edition of Ethics Talk, journal editor in chief, Audiey Kao, MD, PhD, talks with Chris Beyrer, MD, MP, about the challenges facing the U.S. president’s emergency plan for AIDS relief during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Stay updated

The AMA offers a series of articles on foundational guidance in medical ethics for health care professionals and institutions responding to the COVID-19 pandemic. These articles draw on the ethics guidance of the AMA Code of Medical Ethics.

Please visit the AMA Journal of Ethics COVID-19 ethics resource center for additional resources, videocasts and podcasts.

AMA Journal of Ethics COVID-19 videocasts

2021

- Could Trusting Science Mean Not Trusting Some FDA Decisions?
- Building Trustworthiness and Ethical Public Health Practice
- Antibiotic Stewardship During COVID
- Equity and Intellectual Property Protection of COVID Vaccines
- Anti-Asian Racism During COVID and Beyond
- Public, Civic and Spiritual Health During COVID
- Surviving COVID Without Water and Other Utilities?
- Health Hazards of Cost Sharing
- Crushing Medical Debt During COVID
- Equal Justice Under Law and Health Equity
- COVID-19 Vaccine Hesitancy in the Health Care Workforce

Copyright 1995 - 2021 American Medical Association. All rights reserved.
2020

- Virtue Ethics, Moral Authority, and COVID-19
- Othering and Belonging in COVID-19
- Disability Community Perspectives on COVID-19
- Health Equity After COVID-19
- COVID-19 Pandemic Response

2019

- What Are Clinicians’ Obligations to Patients Who Express Bias or Discrimination?
- When and How Should ECMO Be Initiated and Removed?

2015

- Exempting Vaccinations - An Interview with Dr. Richard Pan, Special Podcast