Work life at the AMA: Employee spotlight

Get to know the interesting and diverse individuals whose dedication, commitment, hard work and energy keep the AMA running. Read about their experiences, get a sense of our culture and get a glimpse of your potential future colleagues, the diverse individuals that make up our AMA.

May 2022 feature

Offie Robinson—Distribution Services Manager of Shipping and Receiving

Q: You’ve been with the AMA for 53 years. Has the AMA changed during your time here?

A: The names of departments and projects have changed but our mission doesn’t change.

Q: How do you get involved in your community?
A: About once a month, I attend a breakfast at the local senior center, spending time with some of the folks whose health doesn’t allow them to keep the same sort of activity I have. I don’t really think of myself as being senior! I used to participate in the softball and bowling leagues through the AMA, as well.

Q: What do you enjoy about working at the AMA?

A: I always enjoy coming to work and meeting new people. Shipping and Receiving interacts with all the departments, so we see everyone. Usually, I speak to people on the phone and know them through their voices. When people recognize me in the hallway, it’s interesting to connect names and faces. I’ve been enjoying Teams because it lets you know who you’re talking to.

Related articles

- Top reasons to work at the AMA
- What’s it like to work at the AMA?
- The AMA’s commitment to workplace diversity, equity and inclusion
- Thrive and grow in your career: Professional development with the AMA
- AMA internships and fellowships
- AMA Employee Resource Groups (ERGs)