Get to know the interesting and diverse individuals whose dedication, commitment, hard work and energy keep the AMA running. Read about their experiences, get a sense of our culture and get a glimpse of your potential future colleagues, the diverse individuals that make up our AMA.

July 2023 feature

Kelsey Walsh—Manager, Archives and Records Management

Q: What inspires you at work and at home?

A: Curiosity? I thoroughly enjoy learning how things work or came to be—whether it’s the plant I just brought home, a very specific microhistory project, or getting more familiar with the work that AMA has undertaken in the last 176 years. I’m excited to learn.
Q: What is something at the AMA that helps you to Thrive?

A: Employee Resource Groups (ERG) programming in general and the Pride group in particular. I’ve met some amazing people who have become friends through these groups, and finding community like this in a workplace has been unexpected and lovely.

Q: How do you attend to your own wellness?

A: I might not have always counted it as wellness, but making time to read every day is something that’s been really important for my brain in a busy and loud work. It’s an opportunity for a mental and physical reset that also provides exposure to many different perspectives, stories, and ideas.

Related articles

- Top reasons to work at the AMA
- What’s it like to work at the AMA?
- The AMA’s commitment to workplace diversity, equity and inclusion
- Thrive and grow in your career: Professional development with the AMA
- AMA internships and fellowships
- AMA Employee Resource Groups (ERGs)