Staff News Writer

The JAMA Career Center® presents physician volunteer and career opportunities, news and information relevant to the full spectrum of medical practice. Job postings are updated daily for virtually every specialty, practice setting and region in the United States.

This center offers a way to bring employers and job seekers together, helping physicians realize their potential while addressing the needs of disparate communities. Opportunities can range from remote rural and underserved urban areas to thriving neighborhoods in towns and major metropolitan centers.

If you're searching for volunteer opportunities, the site offers a list of organizations looking for volunteers as well as the areas each organization serves and the specialties needed.
