RES 1001-A-25	Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices	Adopted.	The Board considered a report in response to the requests of Res. 1001-A-25. The Board VOTED to approve that: 1) the AMA recognizes that the priority is to restore ACIP as an evidence-based entity for vaccine recommendations that clinicians and the public can rely on; 2) while AMA policy supports ACIP recommended vaccines, ACIP has changed dramatically since those policies were adopted by the HOD and the AMA should support ACIP recommendations as of May 1, 2025, as well as national medical specialty society recommendations on vaccines. This decision is necessary to ensure the AMA can communicate evidence-based vaccine recommendations as we head into respiratory virus season this Fall; and 3) the AMA serves as a resource to physicians and the public by disseminating and communicating evidence-based vaccine recommendations as developed by national medical specialty societies. Our AMA has strongly advocated for maintained access to vaccines and has opposed all recent Administration actions with respect to the removal and replacement of ACIP members. In June, AMA advocated for a Senate inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the removal of all existing ACIP members, as well as sending a letter to HHS strongly opposing the removal and replacement of existing ACIP members. The Board considered a report in response to the requests of Res. 105-A-25. The Board VOTED that in lieu of adopting Resolution 105-A-25, the AMA develop a new online Medicare participation options kit to include: information about how to become a participating physician, non-participating physician, or opt out of Medicare; implications of each alternative for Medicare physician payment rates; pros and cons of each alternative as well as legal, financial, and ethical considerations; frequently asked questions about Medicare participation options; and example documents and timelines, such as a sample opt-out affidavit and patient-physician private contract. Once developed, the AMA should take steps to communicate the availability of the resource to physicians, make it readily accessible, and update it to reflect significant Medicare policy changes. For about a decade, the AMA maintained and annually updated a Medicare participation options kit on its website but interest in it declined over time and it was last updated in 2019. RES 210-A-25	Impact of Tariffs on Healthcare Access and Costs	Adopted as Amended	Analysis of preliminary data by AMA staff economists suggest a moderate rise in the price of some imported medical goods, including prescription drugs and medical devices, due to tariffs. Prices may also increase for devices made in the U.S., since many rely on imported components. Still, it is too early, and the policy has been too variable, to accurately assess impact on costs or access. Further, because the current tariff policy lacks clear long-term direction, insurers face added uncertainty in pricing their insurance plans in 2026. Our AMA will continue to monitor the impact of tariffs on health care costs and patient access as the direction of tariff policy becomes clearer. Our AMA has been engaging with a wide variety of stakeholders across the medical device, PPE, and pharmaceutical industries to assess the potential impact of tariffs on medical devices, diagnostics, PPE, and drugs. At the time of this update, the overwhelming majority of industry is absorbing the tariff costs, but unsure how long this can persist. Given this, tariffs have not yet impacted the broader health care system, and it is unclear when they may. AMA will continue to engage with industry to assess current impact and will engage with policymakers to advocate for action to mitigate harms/increased costs to the system and to patients. Analysis of preliminary data and research in September 2025, January 2026, and April 2026 by AMA staff economists suggest a moderate rise in the price of some imported medical goods, including prescription drugs and medical devices, due to tariffs. Prices may also increase for devices made in the U.S., since many rely on imported components. Still, it is too early, and tariffs too variable, to accurately assess their impact on costs or access. Our AMA will continue to monitor the impact of tariffs on health care costs and patient access as the direction of tariff policy becomes clearer.

Upgraded technology will help to ensure that physicians can access the most critical public health information that they need, including on emerging infections, to deliver the highest quality care and achieve better outcomes for their patients. In addition, our AMA has been outspoken about recent turmoil at the CDC and how leadership changes, budget cuts, and the termination of hundreds of employees leaves the U.S. highly susceptible to public health threats.

RES 241-A-25	Preservation of Immigration Pathways for International Medical Student	Adopted, with Change in Title.	Our AMA is currently working on drafting comments to the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) concerning a proposed rule entitled “Establishing a Fixed Time Period of Admission and an Extension of Stay Procedure for Nonimmigrant Academic Students, Exchange Visitors, and Representatives of Foreign Information Media.” The proposed rule that would replace admission for “duration of status” (D/S) with fixed periods of admission for certain nonimmigrant categories, including J-1 exchange visitors (international medical graduate physicians are included in this category). Our AMA advocated to provide exceptions for J-1 physicians to this change noting that J-1 physicians bring valuable cultural and intellectual strengths to their U.S. training programs. The comments also noted that J-1 physicians play an irreplaceable role in our U.S. healthcare workforce and should be provided with supportive pathways to continue to provide this care rather than the overly complicated and financially burdensome immigration process that would result from the implementation of this rule.

RES 701-A-25	Electronic Health Records Contract Termination	Referred for Decision.	The Board considered a report in response to the requests of Res. 701-A-25. The Board VOTED to approve that the following language be adopted in lieu of Resolution 701-A-25: RESOLVED, that our American Medical Association (AMA) advocate adopt as policy that Electronic Health Record (EHR) vendors provide sufficient notice for physician practices prior to termination of a contract that allows for adequate time for transition to a new EHR and preserves continuity of care. This should reflect a reasonable period of time for contracting with a new EHR, transferring patient and quality reporting data, and applying for an applicable hardship exemption based on ‘vendor issues’ with a (e.g., a minimum 180-day notification of contract termination without cause); and be it further RESOLVED, that our AMA creates standard contract language that can be inserted into EHR contracts that preserve the rights of physicians and patients to access their data for a reasonable period after contract termination; and be it further RESOLVED, that our AMA petition collaborate with the Center for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) and the Assistant Secretary for Technology Policy/Office of the National Coordinator for Health Information Technology (ASTP/ONC) and identify which to mandate that EHR vendors provide a minimum 180-day notification of contract termination provisions lie within ASTP/ONC’s regulatory authority to inform future advocacy and policy development without cause to physician practices. This amended language preserves the House of Delegates’ (HOD) desire to include in AMA policy a time frame for notification that allows for reasonable action to be taken in transitioning EHRs, while also leaving it open to allow for flexibility by providing context for what a time frame should encompass. Additionally, this amendment includes action on the part of the AMA to develop model contract language as a more immediate step. At the same time, it also allows the AMA to collaborate with the federal government to determine the most suitable path for future advocacy to address this significant issue.
