Statement of Interest

I am a physician who left his fellowship in Syria due to the brutal war and had to come here to the US for a new life and was able against all odds to find residency because of a great program director who opened her heart to hear me and gave me a chance. I have lost many colleagues due to the war in Syria and even here in the US due to residency stress. I have auditioned in many hospitals in the US, and I believe I can make a change and make residency better for my colleagues and motivate them. I am a big advocate for Women in medicine and want to help them overcome challenges that somehow are built in the system and shift the power to have it more institutional than individual.
