I taken great pride in the organizations and institutions I have been a part of throughout my academic and professional career, from undergrad and grad school to Washington, DC and Michigan. In every instance, I have aspired to engage and uplift these institutions as best I can by giving of my time, talent and treasure. I firmly believe representation matters, and nowhere is that more evident than my involvement in the American Medical Association.

During my medical school tenure, I was elected and/or appointed to numerous county, state, and national advisory committees, boards, and chair positions within organized medicine as a student representative by my peers. I successfully spear-headed a national student-led fundraising campaign for health literacy as a Board of Trustee for the American Medical Association (AMA) Foundation, served as Michigan State Medical Society (MSMS) Student Chair for over 2000 medical students in the state of Michigan and authored several policy resolutions for the AMA and MSMS. I received multiple awards for leadership and service to medicine, including the AMA Foundation Minority Scholars award, the MSU College of Graduates Leadership Award, and an Internship as a Government Relations Health Policy analyst for the AMA in Washington, DC.

As a Resident, I continue to work alongside peers, colleagues, and other like-minded health professionals in support of medical advocacy and civic engagement. In this work at the state and local level I have a finger on the pulse of the medical community and organized medicine. As a result, I fully understand Residents' concerns, from work-life balance and burnout to mounting student debt and adequate training. This working knowledge will allow me to convey a very accurate picture of Resident concerns and discern relevant ideas and policies for our AMA.

The opportunity to serve as a Resident/Fellow Section (RFS) delegate for the 2023 calendar year is an honor and a privilege for me. I am grateful and appreciative for my many working and personal relationships of current Residents, Fellows, and Physicians within the AMA and welcome the opportunity to nurture those relationships while moving medicine forward. My goal is to become an integral part of the RFS by quickly adapting to the current AMA landscape and eagerly developing new strategies, policies, and initiatives to advance the priorities of the RFS.

Thank you for your time and consideration.
