
Women Physicians Section (AMA-WPS)

Member At-large

Name

Nubia Lluberés

Credentials

MD

Pronouns

She/Her

Statement of interest

I am deeply committed to advancing healthcare equity and advocating for women's health rights, I am eager to contribute my expertise and passion to the position of Member at Large of the AMA. In this role, I aspire to leverage my experience and knowledge to drive positive change, Specifically, I aim to champion initiatives that address the unique healthcare needs of women, including access to reproductive health services, maternal healthcare, and gender-specific research and treatment protocols. Additionally, I am dedicated to promoting diversity and inclusion within the medical field, ensuring that all voices are heard and represented in healthcare decision-making processes. Furthermore, I am enthusiastic about collaborating with fellow members to tackle pressing healthcare challenges, such as reducing health disparities, improving healthcare access, and advocating for evidence-based policies that prioritize patient well-being. Overall, I am eager to serve as a proactive and vocal advocate for women's health rights and advancing the art and science of medicine for the betterment of public health.

I am an IMG who came to the US driven by a passion for my career. I arrived with multiple disadvantages: ethnic minority, single mother, bringing with me a seven-year-old child, with no financial help and no financial history in this country, fighting to maintain the balance between career and family. Another side of me is my strong commitment to serving justice-involved individuals. I have worked in jails and prisons intending to help others see the need for a more humane approach to the management of justice-involved individuals.